MISK

For Arabic learners worldwide

Read it. Say it. Use it.

Learn Arabic from the very first letter with real voices, eleven games and a clear map. No pressure, no streak guilt.

Sound familiar?

Why Arabic feels hard

Letters look alike

ح and ص ,ه and ق ,س and ك. Most apps skip the sounds that trip you up.

Reading gets skipped

Transliteration becomes a crutch, and months later you still cannot read a sign or a verse.

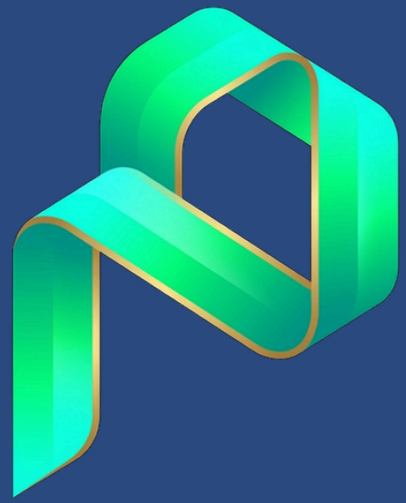

You miss a few days

Streak counters make you feel judged, so you quit instead of coming back.

The idea

Arabic you can read, say and use

One map that takes you from the alphabet to real conversations, with sound in every step and zero guilt.

Your map

Misk Line: every lesson is a station

Lines and stations

Each unit is a colored line. Each lesson is a station you can see yourself passing.

One clear next step

A single Continue button on Today, not a menu of twelve things.

Everything is open

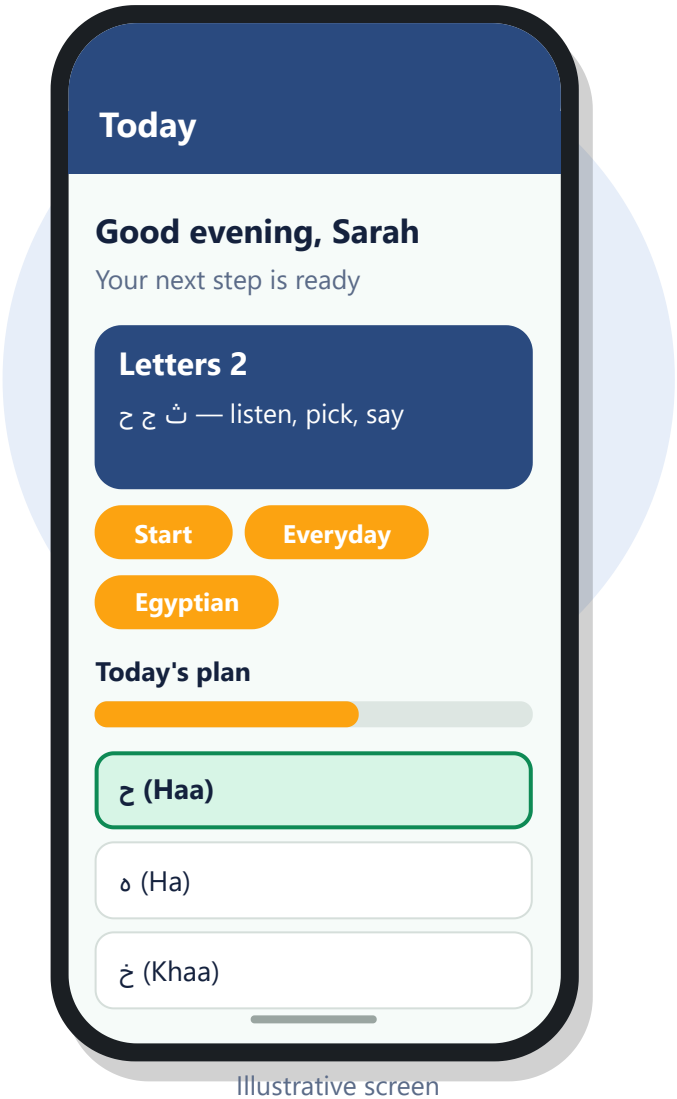

You decide where to go. A recommendation is a suggestion, never a gate.

Interchange at the end

Every line ends with a game and a check, so you know it really stuck.

Windows and Android

Same words, same rules on both. Link them with a QR code.

Illustrative screen

Six routes

Choose the Arabic you need

Start

Letters, shapes, vowels and reading short words. Tracing practice too.

Everyday

Greetings, numbers, family, food, time, questions, shopping and directions.

Egyptian

The Arabic you hear on the street, in shops, on transport and in family visits.

Quran

Mushaf letters and marks, reading verse syllables and frequent Quran words.

Life and Work

Airport, hotel, restaurant, doctor, taxi, work, university and emergencies.

Grammar and Reading

Sentences, pronouns, tenses, possession and graded reading texts.

Six stages

A ladder you can feel climbing

1 2 3 4 5 6

Stage 0 Foundations

Read vocalized letters and words. Say the hard sounds.

Stage 1 Survival

Greet, introduce yourself, numbers, simple requests.

Stage 2 Daily

Everyday sentences, questions and simple tenses.

Stage 3 Independent

Talk in familiar situations and read a short paragraph.

Stage 4 Confident

Longer texts, grammar and expression.

Stage 5 Advanced

Graded authentic texts and style.

Stages are our own ordering, loosely based on CEFR. They are not an official level.

Start with the letters

Sounds first, then shapes, then reading

Real letter recordings

All 28 letters with recorded sound, so you hear them, not guess them.

Four shapes per letter

See each letter alone, at the start, in the middle and at the end of a word.

Vowels and marks

Short and long vowels, shadda, sukoon and tanween, with marks shown while you learn.

Sound questions

Name the letter, find the first letter of a word, hear a vowel or a long sound.

Trace the letter

Practice writing by tracing. It is practice, not scored, so no pressure.

Read syllables and words

Join letters into syllables, then short words, then simple lines.

Your daily session

About ten minutes, one clear flow

1

Warm up

Words that are due come back first.

2

Meet the cards

Three to six new cards, with sound.

3

Practise

Six to eight questions on what you met.

4

Say it

Two or three phrases. Optional.

5

Play a round

A short Souq round with your own words.

6

Today

A quiet summary and your next step.

Souq games 1 of 2

Train your ear, your eye and your hand

Echo

The sound is the question. It plays on its own, Repeat replays it, and an optional 60-second Sprint adds pace.

Match

Pair words, pictures and meanings. Flip to explore freely, then check the words you matched.

Build the Word

A right-to-left tile board with real letter joining. Build the word you hear.

Marks

Switch the vowel, add the shadda or sukoon, and hear how the word changes.

Fit the Form

Place the right shape of a letter by its position: start, middle or end.

Ink

Trace each letter with your finger or mouse. Practice only, never scored.

Souq games 2 of 2

Build sentences, speak and use them

Sentence Builder

Put the words in order and learn the grammar behind the sentence.

Letter Catcher

Catch the letter that matches the sound, fast and light.

Say it

Say the word aloud and see Heard or Not heard. Simple and kind.

Market Talk

Illustrated Egyptian conversations. Choose the right reply in real situations.

Word Hunt

Find the words you hear inside a scene, like a market or a station.

Daily Round

Up to eight cards that are really due today, then more from your line.

Fair play

Games built to teach, not to trick

Explicit decisions

An accidental tap never counts as mastery. You confirm your answer.

Timed is optional

Sprint has no skip and no speed bonus. The open item when time ends is not a mistake.

Difficulty adapts

Three right answers move you up, two wrong ones bring you down, in clear steps.

Never "Game over"

A round ends with what you learned and your next step, not a failure screen.

No answer leaks

Arabic choices are not read before you answer, so you really have to listen.

Accessible

Large touch targets, high contrast and a silent path for every game.

Sound

Voices and feedback that feel kind

Repeat button

Replays the question and reads the choices, one language at a time.

Natural voices

Arabic and English voices, plus recorded letters for the alphabet.

Gentle sound effects

Eleven soft tones. A mistake is a calm rising note, never a buzzer.

A silent path

If sound is off, Read it shows the word and nothing is scored.

Word, icon, color

Every verdict uses all three, so color is never the only signal.

Mistakes come back

A wrong answer goes to your Review pile automatically.

Interchange

Finish a line, pass the Interchange

A station on the map

The last stop of every line is a Line check, shown on the map before you start.

Three short stops

Listen, then build, then read or talk. Real counts, no padding.

Passed or Not yet

Your answers are checked at the end. No hidden percentage and no pressure.

Words to review

If it is Not yet, you get the exact list of words that need another look.

Test out

Already know a line? Take its Interchange and skip ahead.

No tricks

No surprise enemies and no random rewards. Just a clear next stop.

Your Deck

A collection of what you really learned

A card for everything seen

Every letter, word and phrase you meet becomes a card in your Deck.

No packs, no rarity

No shop, no random cards. Your Deck grows only from learning.

Seen and Held

Held means it has stuck. It is marked with a stamp, a check and the word Held.

Hear every card

Tap any card to hear it and see its Arabic on a large bilingual board.

Due badge

Cards that need review show Due, and one tap starts Practise these.

Tagged by Arabic

Each card shows Fusha, Egyptian or Both, so you always know.

Your guide

Meet Nour, the lamp that lights the way

A lamp, not a cartoon

A simple lamp mark with a small flame. It appears only where it helps you.

Ask Nour

An AI tutor for questions. It says clearly that it is automated and can be wrong.

Calm and exact

Nour praises with facts, explains mistakes in one line and tells you what is next.

Four places only

Today, in-session coaching, empty and error states, and the summary.

Motivation

Progress you can trust

A daily goal you choose

Light, Regular or Serious. It becomes a few clear steps for today.

Goal

The difference

Typical apps vs Misk

Typical language apps

- Streak counters and guilt when you miss a day
- Transliteration instead of reading
- Hearts or limits that stop you
- Random rewards and loot boxes
- Fake progress numbers

Misk Learn Arabic

- Welcome back, with no punishment
- Reading from the first letter, with sound
- Everything open, you choose the path
- A Deck and stamps from what you learned
- Real records, or a dash if unknown

Our promises

How Misk treats learners

Arabic is the hero

Big Arabic on a bilingual board. English is a small helper, never the lead.

Sound is never required

Everything you hear also has a written version and a silent path.

Honest progress

Every number counts real records. No invented levels or fake percentages.

Everything is open

No locks. The adult learner decides.

Quiet by default

A calm interface that lights up only when you earn it. Calm mode turns celebrations off.

Same on every device

Same words and rules on Android and Windows, with a layout made for each.
